Students must complete a minimum of one semester of at least 11 weeks in length and 12 transferable credits from a pre-approved partnership program. The International Business major requires its students to demonstrate competency in a foreign language. With sufficient high school preparation, students can elect to take an online examination upon entrance to WSU (fee based tests such as STAMP or LTI). If additional preparation in a foreign language is necessary, students will work with a CCB advisor to develop an appropriate course of study. Assessed proficiency in a second language will be at the intermediate level or completion of a foreign language course through the 204 level. This may be completed at any time before graduation. Check with an advisor for specifics. Education Abroad is strongly recommended for language acquisition. The following courses in any foreign language (or any course for which one of these is a prerequisite) will be accepted as meeting the foreign language competency standard set by International Business in the Carson College of Business: 204, 261, 306, 307, 308, 406, 407, or 408. This requirement is for all students except international students whose primary language is not English. Students interested in pursuing a double-major can do so in the following business majors: Accounting, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Human Resources Management, or Marketing. Students pursuing double majors must complete at least 15 additional credits (18 credits for accounting) from courses specifically required by the second major and distinct from those used to satisfy the International Business major. Students majoring in International Business are also encouraged to pursue areas of expertise, such as in Business Economics, a double major in foreign language for the professions such as Chinese, French, German, or Spanish	8-20

for the Professions, in Political Sciences, or pursue the Certificate in East Asian Studies for Business majors.

Learning about it is more critical than ever. The minor in Modern Asia is designed to deepen students’ appreciation of the complexity and diversity of the region encompassing East Asia, South Asia, and the Middle East. Students who focus on one country or region will also develop pan-Asian perspectives. Students who have completed 60 semester credits may be admitted to the minor in Modern Asia. The minor requires a 2.0 GPA and a minimum of 18 credits taken from ASIA 201, 301, 303; HISTORY/ASIA 270, 271, 272,	8-21

Students should consult with their advisor about their readiness for certification and then apply for certification as early as possible in their studies after completion of the needed certification courses. Certification Process <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The School of Mechanical and Materials Engineering and the School of Engineering and Applied Science will establish the total number of students to be certified into the Mechanical Engineering program for each location. 2. Certification Guarantee: Students who have completed the certification courses noted above with an average GPA of at least 3.2, who have an overall GPA of at least 3.2 in all completed engineering, math, and science courses, and who have not repeated any required courses, are guaranteed certification. 3. If the number of students who meet minimum certification requirements exceeds the number of available spaces, students will be ranked based on the GPA of the engineering, math, and science courses completed. The semester and cumulative GPA will be considered and used as a reference. In addition to GPA, other factors may also be taken into consideration, such as the number of engineering, math, and science courses taken at WSU. The independent committee for each school has the authority to weigh these factors in its decision for certification. 	8-20

4. ~~The certification is only valid for the current campus of residence. Should a student decide to change campus after certification, they will need to reapply for certification for the campus to which they will transfer.~~
5. ~~Students who are deficient under the University's Academic Regulations are subject to decertification. The undergraduate studies committee will determine the eligibility and probation conditions for decertified students who will be permitted to apply for recertification.~~

Admission Requirements

To be admitted into the Mechanical Engineering major, students must have earned an 83% or higher ALEKS placement score (MATH), or completed MATH 106 and 108, 171 or higher calculus course with "C" or better, or Calc AP score of 2.

Students transferring to degree-completion programs in Bremerton and Everett branches must have 2.6 average GPA in the following or equivalent courses, each completed with grade "C" or better: CE 211, CE 215, CHEM 105, CPT S 121 or 131, E E 221, ENGLISH 101, MATH 171, MATH 172, MATH 220, MATH 273, MATH 315, ME 116, ME 212, PHYSICS 201, PHYSICS 202.

Benchmarks to Maintain Major in ME Status

To keep their status as Mechanical Engineering majors, students must: (1) maintain a 2.6 average GPA in major courses required for ME degree, (2) obtain a grade of C or better in all courses required for the ME degree. No more than one repeat per course is allowed in all ME and MSE courses required for the ME degree.

Major courses required for the ME degree include all ME, MSE, physics, chemistry, and math courses listed in the schedule of studies.

Concentrations for BS in Mechanical Engineering

Students follow a General Path, or seek a concentration in Thermo-fluids, Manufacturing, or Autonomous Systems.

Students are encouraged to consult with their advisor at their campus of residence for approved alternative course sequences as well as allowed substitutions to the schedule studies.
